

JRM Construction Management

2020 Community Impact Grants

Overview:

JRM Construction Management will award Community Impact Grants of $20,000 each to eligible nonprofits in four impact areas:

- Health – includes organizations or projects dedicated to supporting the physical, mental and social well-being of individuals and communities
- Education – includes organizations or projects that promote learning and access to learning, educational attainment, college readiness, high-quality teaching and academic success
- Youth Services – includes youth activities that develop youth socially and emotionally, which may include physical activity, and cultural enrichment
- Housing and Food Security – includes organizations or projects focused on helping individuals and/or families secure or remain in safe, affordable places to live and/or encouraging access to healthy food that is safe, adequate and nutritious

Proposals must fall within these impact areas to be considered. In addition, our geographic focus is on local projects in New York City, Westchester County and Long Island, New York. We will consider proposals from national organizations as long as they have a local presence.

Eligibility:

Eligible organizations are those with tax exempt status under Section 501©3 of the IRS Code. The grant may be used for program/project support or for general operating support. JRM does not fund private educational institutions, political entities or religious institutions or groups. Past recipients are kindly asked to wait three years after date of award before reapplying.

Deadline:

JRM will begin accepting proposals for the 2020 grant cycle on June 10, 2019. Proposals are due by 5pm on August 23, 2019. Notification of awards will be made by December 4, 2019.

Instructions:

Please type and single space proposals, adhering to the page limits set out below. Please include the proposal cover sheet. Completed proposals and supporting documents may be submitted electronically in PDF format to grantapplication@jrmcm.com.
