JRM IS HERE TO SUPPORT YOUR TEAMS

Upon Returning to Work After COVID-19, Health & Safety Is Our Biggest Focus.

SOCIAL DISTANCING IN THE OFFICE

Putting more distance between people has proven to be key to keeping the transmission of COVID-19 under control. With social distancing becoming the new normal, we can expect the layout of our offices to change as well. Larger spaces, fewer people, and the advent of the “six-ft office” are all starting to make their way into post-COVID-19 office designs around the world.

HOW CAN YOU KEEP YOUR WORKFORCE SAFE?

The best way to mitigate risk in your office is to remove threats to safety and security, including reducing the number of common touch points throughout your building, before your employees return to the office. Consider updating to hands-free technology, and making a few critical updates prior to reopening your office.
